CHIRURGIEN DENTISTE - DENTAL SURGEON

Dear MARS BIOMED,

In 2013 we started having problems with are general suction system. We then realized that our normal HG5 Amalgam separator needed to be emptied. Every year one or twice we did the regular maintenance. The specialist would come in and empty our tank. As they did their regular maintenance we would always have a clean up to do and also all the mercury vapours we released in the air during our working hours with patients in the office. What a mess it was

When they started looking at our situation by the technicians they told us that our entire evacuation/suction system was not operating properly. It was recommended to change absolutely everything.

We started debating and looking into other options. Then I remember the BOSS evacuation system from MARS. When we started speaking with them they assured us that it wasn't our suctions or the entire evacuation system.

There super friendly team help us out so much. Once we got the BOSS system in our office, our suctions has been great! It cleaned up our clogged lines with the specific evacuation solutions that they have available to purchase. They exchange the tanks when it's full. No more mess and no more mercury vapours released into our office. Its' amazing!

They were absolutely right! Our evacuation system and suction system was not the problem.

I highly recommend switching to this system!

Thanks you for a hassle free system and a very friendly team!
