I am a biological dentist who has concerns for our environment. When I learned of the fact that we dentists were a major contributor to Hg pollution I wanted to do my own part. I have also been waiting for the "hammer to drop" and the government to require Hg separators. I did my research and chose the LibertyBoss because of many reasons. I like the fact that it is self contained and we do not need to risk contamination when the time comes to change out the unit. I also like the reliability, and have never had a problem and it was easy to install. As a long term customer I am ready to replace my current unit and would not think of switching to a different system. Thank you LibertyBoss!
